REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
JAMES A. GARFIELD,
OF OHIO.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
CHESTER A. ARTHUR,
OF NEW YORK.

REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT CONVENTION.

FIRST DISTRICT.

A Republican Convention of the First Congressional District of the State of Wisconsin, composed of the counties of Kenosha, Racine, Rock, Walworth and Waukesha, is hereby called to meet at the village of Geneva, in Walworth county, on the 25th day of July, 1880, at 12 o'clock noon of that day, to nominate a candidate for Congress for the District, for the next ensuing two years. Each Senate and Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

Dated June 23, 1880.

The population of Madison, according to the census just taken, is 10,330, a gain of 207 over 1875.

The most that can be said of the Democratic ticket is that is a respectable mask. It will come to grief all the same.

If the Democrats think they can win in this campaign by adopting a course of slander, they will learn their mistake when it is too late to mend their ways. Facts and common sense will win in this canvass.

The Democrats said immediately after the nomination was made, that Hancock would carry every Northern State but two. They have sobered down a little since then, and now think he is likely to carry New Jersey and Indiana.

The Congressional Convention for the First District has been called for July 28, and town committees should see that the necessary preliminaries are called in good season. Caucuses to send delegates to the Senatoral Convention, which will be held on the 26th of July, should also be called at an early day.

It is stated that one of the most curious facts about the census in Columbus, Ohio, is a colored enumerator, who, being run over by the cars several years ago came out of the doctor's hands with both arms amputated at the shoulder. Like the celebrated John Carter, he learned to write legibly by holding the pencil between his teeth. It is said that as an enumerator he recorded on an average 200 names a day.

The Democrats are enjoying an era of "good feeling" which is perfectly touching. They think they are going to carry everything, because John Kelly and John Fellows shook hands over a bloody chasm at Cincinnati. It is really too bad to disturb the Democrats in the enjoyment of so much good feeling, but the campaign must go on, and the more there is said and done, the more disturbed will the Democrats become

The Democrats evidently thought the Republican would take to the woods when such a "gentleman" as Hancock was nominated; but since the Republicans are organizing clubs in all parts of the country, making rigorous preparations for the campaign, and showing more confidence and hope than ever, the Democrats are astonished, and now think they did not do such a cunning thing after all in nominating Hancock. The party in search for the woods will be the Democrats.

When the day arrives for the battle of the ballots, the people of the North will remember these facts, that Garfield is a man of the people, a man of unchallenged integrity, of great ability, and of long experience in public life, and truly represents the intelligence, the enterprise, and the patriotism of the North; while General Hancock has nothing but a fair military record, is a military figure-head, and represents Southern ideas. As between these there is no doubt how the people of the country will decide.

THE JANESVILLE GAZETTE.

VOLUME 24 — JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30, 1880. — NUMBER 98

The sum and substance of General Hancock's nomination is thus very briefly given by the New York Tribune: "How transitory are all these fleeting honors! To-day General Hancock is raised into greater prominence than he has ever enjoyed before by the fact of his nomination for the Presidency. He will continue to stand in this focus for about six months, and during that time the pulling and hauling and buffeting and boring he will have to suffer will far outweigh the satisfaction of standing before the index finger of the world. After that he will gradually fade out and subside, and it will be only a few years before curious people with short memories, discussing political history in the clubs will be saying: 'Well, let's see; there's Hancock; he was a good deal talked about as a candidate for President for several years after the war. Do you remember whether he was ever nominated?' And then there'll be bets made on the subject."

The crop prospects in the West are excellent, and in the Southern part of Illinois, where harvesting is almost completed, the quality and yield of wheat is very good. It is feared that the surplus of wheat produced this year will exceed the foreign demand, in which case the price, will be lower than they were last year. The prospects of the crops in the European countries, are much better than they were last year, and are more favorable than they were several weeks age. The market, of course, for all our surplus grain, is in foreign countries, and when crops are good there American grain will have to be sold at low prices. The agricultural resources of the States and Territories are so vast that when crops are good the surplus amounts to many millions of bushels more than we can use at home, or if the foreign crops are good, the prices are correspondingly low in this country. It is also conjectured that the price of cotton will range low on account of the abundant yield here and the excellent condition of the crop in foreign countries.

THE REAL ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

The nomination of General Hancock was made for the special purpose of "beating the Republicans." The Democrats knew they could not do it with Tilden; they knew Seymour could not win in the contest; and in fact it was as plain as the noon-day sun to the Cincinnati Convention that none of the prominent candidates for the nomination were popular enough or strong enough to beat Garfield It was considered a masterly stroke of policy to nominate a gentleman and general, and making up their minds that the doom of the Republican party was sealed were this done, the Democrats with singular unanimity gave the honors of the nomination to General Hancock. It was supposed also by the Democrats that the nomination of a Union soldier would put an end to the Solid South cry and would wipe out the sectional issue.

But the people of the North are not so easily deceived, They can not be hoodwinked by what the Democrats have done at Cincinnati. There is just as much significance in the issue of the Solid South with General Hancock as the Democratic nominee, as there would have been had Bayard or Wade Hampton been nominated. That issue still remains, and solemn as the fact is, it cannot be wiped out so long as the South is solid for the Democratic party irrespective of its principles or policy. The only thing that will end the sectional issue or make the Solid South a thing of the past, is a free election and an honest count of the votes. When the Southern leaders will allow every Republican voter in the South to march up to the polls and vote with as much freedom from intimidation as the Democratic voters do in the North, then the cry of the Solid South will be heard no more, and the sectional issue will disappear from American politics.

But the Democratic party does not propose to let the Solid South pass out of our politics. It was the boast of several Democrats in the Cincinnati Convention that the South was solid, and would remain solid; and here was another blunder committed by the Southern leaders. They propose with the aid of the Northern Democrats to get possession of the federal power, and it was agreed upon that Hancock being a general and an accomplished gentleman, would be the man to lead the Southern Brigadiers to victory. So anxious are these Brigadiers to get into power, that they would not only endorse but support any man for the nomination who could win in the Presidential contest. They reasoned, as a matter of course, that the voters of the North, and especially the old soldiers, would not vote against such a gallant soldier as Winfield S. Hancock; and the Northern Democrats look at the matter in the same light. It was well known to the Democrats from General Hancock's record, that he would be as subservient and as easily moulded as any man they could nominate. The Democrats had some experience with him soon after the war, and among the Generals on the Union side there was not one who was nearer the Southern heart than General Hancock. This being the case, the vote of the Southern States was cast for him in the Democratic Convention in 1868.

General Hancock is quite popular in the South. He was once a representative of the White League in Louisiana—in 1868—and once conspired with the Southern Democrats to defeat the reconstruction acts of Congress. These facts, and the additional fact that Hancock will do the bidding of the Southern Democrats if elected, will put the Northern people on their guard and prevent the election of a man who represents the spirit, the ends, and the aims of the Solid South.

THE SEAWANHAKA.

Further Details of the Horrors on Long Island Sound.

NEW YORK, June 20—Thirteen wounded and injured of the Seawanhaka's passengers were cared for at the hospital on Randall's Island, all of whom had left for their homes at noon to-day, except Captain Smith, Mrs Meyers, Miss Morgaret Wylie Amelia Field, of Roslyn, Long Island, and Miss Enzabeth L Diller, of Brooklyn. Miss Diller was badly injured in her endeavors to save her father, the Rev J W Diller, who was burned to death. Her condition is regarded as very serious. Miss Field is suffering from a severe nervous shock and is doing well. Miss Wylie is badly injured and her recovery is not fully assured She is of delicate health and is severely burned on the face, neck and arms.

Captain Smith will probably recover, although his injuries are very severe. He was visited by his brother, George Smith, his son, and by his nephew, Wheelsman Vernon, of the Seawanhaka. At the sight of his son the captain burst into tears Captain Smith sent Vernon from the pilot house at the time of the fire, and did not know until to-day whether he had been rescued or not. Captain Smith lies upon an easy bed, his face, neck, and hands covered with oiled cloths. In the cloth upon his face holes are cut out for his eyes and mouth. One of his eyes are so swelled that it cannot be opened, and his lips and other parts of his face are burned and swollen. The skin of his hands is coming off. His ears and neck are also burned: He cannot open his mouth but a little, and talks in a low voice.

When asked how he was rescued, he said: "I jumped into the water after my boat was beached, and was picked up by the Penitentiary guardboat. I have no idea now the fire occurred. I heard a noise and saw smoke, and saw the engineer come out and go back I can't think of any defect of the boat, for the company was very good to us, and gave us every thing that we wanted. As soon as I saw what the trouble was I thought that the best thing I could do was to run the boat ashore, The flames came all around me. I shouted for the people to remain on board, but they paid no attention to what I said, but jumped off in crowds. I have no idea of the number lost."

Many stories are told by the survivors. One of the most singular is of N. W. Raphael, a stock broker of No. 64 Exchange place, New York. He told his experience as follows. "I was on the rear deck when the accident happened. I don't think over 250 persons were on board. The people behaved well when the danger first appeared, but afterward, as the flames grew hotter, it was every man for himself The most desperate sight I saw was a large man, who was apparently crazed by fear, who clasped the iron girder of the deck and stood there rigid till the fire burned his arms and legs off. A woman tried to get him away, and returned twice till her clothes got afire and we had to drag her from the boat. Captain Smith was a hero. He stood at his post, with the pilot-house blazing around him, and the wheel was on fire in his hands. I went in the same boat as the Captain Randall's Island. The surgeon offered first to dress my hand, which was cut by a safe, but I told him to attend to the Captain. After I had escaped from the calamity, I was surprised to find that I still kept hold of my umberella, evening paper, and my cigar was still in my mouth."

Another passenger tells of a woman who ran about screaming with terror while her hair was in flames.

GENERAL SHERMAN.

MILWAUKEE, June 29—Gen. W. T. Sherman U. S. A., and daughter, Miss Rachael Sherman, and John M. Bacon, U. S. A., arrived here this afternoon and will stay at the Newhall house till to-morrow. This afternoon Gen. Sherman and daughter were driven about the city by Alexander Mitchel. General Sherman smoked a cigar on the verandah of the Newhall house this evening after supper, and chatted in his usual free and easy way with the Times correspondent.

Said the General. "I was sorry not to have been able to attend the glorious reunion you Wisconsin boys had, for I thought much of them. They were all soldiers. But I couldn't come; now I am on a trip to St. Paul and Winnepeg, to see General Terry and arrange about the disposition of supplies, apportionments, etc. —nothing that is of special interest to the general public. I shall go to Madison, Wis, to morrow, stay there over night, probably, and then go on to St. Paul."

"You have already been interviewed sufficiently on the Presidential question?"

"Yes. I have nothing whatever to say on that subject. Both of the nominees for President are splendid men, both are personal friends of mine, and I wouldn't express anything but the very best wishes for either."

In response to the suggestion that he looked well and hearty as usual, General Sherman said: "I haven't lost a day by sickness in thirty years. Some say I am growing old, but I'm past 60 and my hair ain't gray yet," and the general of the armies pulled off his hat and showed the same old close-cut crop of auburn that he wore on his march to the sea.

This evening the General visited General C S Hamilton's, and was called upon by prominent citizens. During the afternoon he was driven about the city and entertained by Alexander Mitchell. He will go to Madison by special car, placed at his disposal by General Manager Merrill, of Chicago, Milwaukee and St Paul company.

BELOIT COLLEGE.

BELOIT, June 29—Commencement week at Beloit College is proving one of delightful weather and of more than the average interest. The gathering of alumni promises to be unusually numerous, and, with important improvements about completed on the main college building, and a new impetus given to financial prospects of the institution by the fresh interest in its welfare manifest among the alumni, its future looks very promising. Dr. Chapin, as has been his custom for more than thirty years, preached the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, taking for his text the words: "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." The discourse was full of timely truths impressively presented, and was attentively listened to by an unusually large audience.

Last evening the Rev Dr Thomas, of Chicago, entertained the Archæan Union, and won numerous friends by his admirable address upon "Success in Life." His exceedingly practical treatment of the subject, and the bright and witty way his points were presented, gave intense satisfaction. The graduating exercises occur to-morrow, fifteen young men taking degrees.

The College Rhetorical exercises were held this afternoon for competition for the Bridgman prizes, given to the members of the freshman and sophomore classes for excellence in declamation. The contestants from the freshman class were: R M Derrick, of Rockford, Illinois; James Simmons, Jr, Geneva, Wisconsin; Ralph Strong, Kansas City, Missouri; and C J Trumbauer, Polo, Illinois. From sophomore class. E M Berger, Beloit; R G Collins, Rockford, Illinois; W F Cooling Rockford, and Roger Leavitt, Waterloo, Iowa. The judges decided in favor of Simmons, of the freshmen, and Leavitt, of the sophomores.

The scholarships for high standing during the past year are awarded as follows: The Stanley scholarship to Rollon D Salisbury, of Spring Prairie, Wis, to the juniors; the Rogers scholarship to Horace L Fiske, of Anamosa, Iowa, of the sophomores, and the Thompson scholarship to James Simmons, Jr of Geneva, Wis, of the freshmen. Last year Fiske took the bridgeman prize, Salisbury the Rogers scholarship, and Simmons the Lewis prize.

This evening athletic sport amused a very large audience on the campus. An illumination of the newly enlarged and improved middle college following.

The alumni are now indulging in a reunion banquet at the Goodwin house.

To-morrow fifteen young men take their graduating degrees, thirteen of them becoming bachelors of arts, and two bachelors of philosophy. They are William Allen, of Geneva, Wis.; Edward A Benson, Beloit; Ed W Camp, Waukesha; Geo L Farnham, Apple River, Illinois; John P Fisk, Jr., Beloit; Thomas N Jones, Beloit; Stephen Martindale, Jr., La Crosse; Thos F Murphy, Boaz, Wisconsin; Frank Porter, Beloit; John B Richards, Jr, Viroqua, Wis.; J Robertson, Racine; Albert Smedes, Beloit; Alfred Steel, Genesee, Alfred C Wright, Brookville, Kan., and Theo L Wright, Jr, Beloit. Porter has the valedictory, T L Wright, Jr, the salutatory, and Smedes the philosophical oration.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity will be conferred upon the Rev Walter S Alexander, President of Straight University, New Orleans, and that of Doctor of Laws, upon Henry B Mason, Professor in Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.

SURE FOR GARFIELD.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 29—A private letter from one of the most prominent Republicans in Connecticut says: "The Hancock boom was the largest at the start, and it will gradually dwindle. In my opinion it will be a very sick operation for the Democrats. We feel first rate over Connecticut. They can't cheat us this year. In 1876 Connecticut gave a total of 121,000 votes, 14,000 more than ever before or since. The increase was in seven cities. We then voted on certificates. That year we carried the Legislature by forty-one Republican majority, and adopted our present election law of one year's residence in the State and six months in the town and no certificates. They can't cheat us this year, and I honestly think we shall carry Connecticut and will elect Garfield."

FALLING OFF.

WASHINGTON, June 29—There will be a falling off of about $100 000,000 of bank circulation for the present month. The national banks are in an exceptionally good condition, as proved by the fact that there have been but two failures for the last ten weeks, an unprecedented occurrence.

UNDER ARREST.

MILWAUKEE, June 29.—Mrs. Horace D. Van Kirk is under arrest on a warrant charging her with the murder of a half-brother named Patrick Leahy, in May last. The latter died suddenly, and on being exhumed recently traces of poison were found in the stomach. The only motive assigned is that the prisoner hoped to secure possession of about $4,000 worth of real estate her mother had willed to the half brothers. Her mother, dying suddenly in March last and the sudden death of one of the half-brothers, gave rise to rumors and led to a postmortem examination. Her husband, formerly a local contracting agent for the Erie and North Shore Line, is now engaged in Chicago, after a short connection with a railway office at Port Huron.

BOND PURCHASES.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Democratic generosity in heavy appropriations is having its first fruits in cutting off means for the decrease of the debt. It is expected that the river and harbor improvements will begin soon, and pensions are so heavy that Secretary Sherman will buy no more bonds for some time, simply because he has to hoard the money to meet this drain. He will probably buy no bonds to-morrow, which will be the first omission, and the same policy will have to be observed at least through July; so there will not likely be any reduction of the debt next month.

GENERAL GARFIELD.

CLEVELAND, June 26—The Leader will publish the following to-morrow: "General Garfield is daily receiving a large number of letters from friends in all parts of the country, and although he has several secretaries and stenographers at his service he is unable to answer them promptly. He wishes friends to understand that all letters requiring answers will receive attention as early as possible. He mailed 140 letters this afternoon."

Forty-Two Children.

Reading Eagle.

John Hepner, of Reading, was born in Germany in 1815 In 1840 he married. His wife lived eight years, and bore him seventeen children. She presented him with twins in the first year of their marriage. The next year another pair of twins was born. Every year for four years thereafter Mrs. Hepner gave birth to triplets. The seventh year was signalized by the birth of only one child to the couple. Mr. Hepner's seventeen children, the oldest one 7 years of age, were taken in charge three months after Mrs. Hepner's death by a young German lady, who became the second Mrs. Hepner. The first Mrs. Hapner died in February, 1848. In February, 1849, her successor presented Mr. Hapner with a boy. On Christmas day of the same year the nineteenth child was added to the Hepner flock. Once a year for five years afterward the family was increased by twins, and for three years after that one child a year was born to Mr. Hapner. The last three were born in this country, Mr. Hapner having emigrated from Germany in 1854. In 1857 his wife died, having been married nine years. Of the thirty-two children that had been born to Hapner, twelve had died. In 1858 he married a widow with one child. The third wife bore him nine children in ten years by single births. Mr. Hapner and his last wife are still living.

New Manufactures in the South.

From the Cincinnati Gazette.

The cotton planter had to be free from the slavery of the slave before he had time to test the practical value of cotton seed. In this one industry—or rather multifarious industries grown from one staring point, the making of cotton seed oil—the South has developed manufacturing and commercial interests that in one decade has doubled the capital invested in cotton. The capabilities of the cotton seed are very plural. It supplies the market with any and all oils, from the delicate olive with its faint green tinge, to the rich and heavy product of the castor bean. Oleomargarine makers are buying a crude quality, which the refine into creamy yellow butter, fresh tasting as the famous "golden sheaf" of Chester county. After all these good and appetizing things are made, the seed cake is shipped to England, and the Devon cattle wax fat on its fibrous grease.

The changes now talked of by the sugar makers are no less marvelous. The leaves and crushed cane are to be made into paper. As a low grade wrapping paper it is already a success, but it is to supersede rice paper in cigarette making an linen, in the parchment, envelopes and letter paper, so valuable where tenacity and lightness are requisite. In fact the possibilities claimed by the sugar makers, are only rivaled by the Arabian Night's marvels already realized by the genii of cotton.

A CARD.

To the Electors of Rock County:

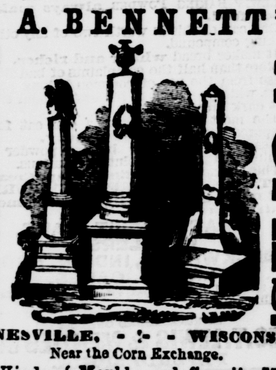

Having encouraged some of my personal friends that I would become a candidate for the office of Sheriff during the present canvass, I now desire to state publicly that inasmuch as I have neither the time nor the disposition to canvass the county, or elbow or button-hole my friends for the nomination, I must decline to be a candidate for the Sheriff's office. Some of the other candidates in the field claim that I am able to live without it, and fully concurring in their judgment, I take this opportunity to make a declination, and to thank you, my friends, one and all, for your confidence and esteem, and all past favors, and remain yours, sincerely,

R. T. PEMBER.

H. A. PATTERSON, P. M.

Garfield, Youth and Man.

The Rev. T. Brooks in the Troy Times.

Twenty-five years ago while a teacher in the Seventh ward in this city, I fooled it to Poestenkill, and then learned of the first advent of two young students from Williams College, James A. Garfield and Professor Wilbur, who had that Saturday walked from Williamstown. Garfield having heard of a church of his faith at Poestenkill, and hoping to secure an opportunity to preach there. I formed an intimate acquaintance with him, admiring his genial, manly, and pleasant ways. Shortly afterward there being a vacancy in the high school in Troy, and having an influence by which I could obtain a place for a friend, I led Garfield up to the top of Mount Olympus in this city, and there, lying upon the bare rocks for two hours, we reinacted the scene of the temptation in the wilderness, I being the Satan in the mimic drama. Garfield had been preaching at Millville and Poestenkill and also teaching penmanship at the same time; and, consequently knowing his financial needs, I was solicitous to place him in a good position, and above pressing financial needs. After listening to my enumeration of the advantages of taking the position vacant in the high school, he arose, and, with a flush of animation and decision he said:

"Brother Brooks, this is exceedingly tempting, and I express my thanks for all your efforts, but it has been the ambition and struggle of my life to win an honorable diploma from some one of your Eastern colleges, and then I can hold it in the face of the world and win honor and distinction. I cannot accept the alluring offer."

Twenty-five years roll around, and in my journey East to visit the scenes of my boyhood, I stopped over Sunday, June 6, in Chicago. Unknown to me, a friend had advertised me to preach in one of the smallest Christian churches in the city. After the sermon I was informed that General Garfield was one of my auditors. Friends were anxious to introduce me to him, but I said "no." I was desirous to see if there would be a mutual recognition. Soon I stood looking at him squarely in the face, until I feared he might think me guilty of impertinence. I could not recall a single feature, twenty five years had wrought such a change in his appearance. Then I said, "Brother Garfield, I am glad to meet you again; do you remember me?" Looking me over in his pleasant manner, he replied: "Hardly, but there is something familiar about you." I referred to him, without mentioning my name, to the scene on Mount Olympus, when he said: "Yes, God bless you, I remember you well!" After a pleasant conversation we separated, I with the thought and firm conviction that the presidential bee buzzed not a bit in his bonnet that day.

General Garfield is a man of pronounced convictions, and all in the direction of right. He could pass by the large and deservedly popular churches of Chicago, and find a place for worship in one of the humblest. His character was built upon bed rock. It will stand the sharpest criticism. He is the admiration of his friends; and he will be, I am certain, our next, and one of our most honored and successful Presidents.

Summer Drinks.

New York Times: A great deal of harm to health and many deaths result, as everybody knows, from injudicious use of cold drinks to quench thirst during our blazing summers. Persons exposed to the heat, especially those hard at work, cannot or will not refrain from drinking, for they feel the need of supplying the waste from copious perspiration. What then, shall they drink? Water seems, under the circumstances, to be inadequate to the wants of the system. It passes through the circulation to the skin as through a sieve, and flows over the surface in streams. A big drink of cold, or even cool, water on an empty stomach is very dangerous; it is liable to produce sudden death. The danger may be avoided, it is said, by putting farinaceous substances, particularly oat meal, with the water to be drank by laborers, the proper portion being three or four ounces of meal to a gallon of water. Why oat meal should be better than rye, millet, buckwheat or corn meal cannot be easily determined, but those who have used oat meal, especially firemen, coal heavers and the like, say that it gives them greater endurance and increases their strength. This may be a mere notion, but the peculiar aroma of the oats may be so so associated with an agreeable stimulation of the alimentary mucous surface as to promote complete digestion. The meal appears to fill the blood vessels without increasing the cutaneous exhalations. Workmen who have tried acid, saccharine or alcoholic drinks as a substitute for the oat-meal drinks have invariably expressed unsatisfactory results. Water with oatmeal seems to be by all odds the most wholesome and desirable drink for manual laborers.

When Niagara Ran Dry.

Buffalo Express: "The Falls of Niagara were dry for a whole day," said Rev. Dr. T. B. Fuller, of Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent lecture. The accuracy of the story was questioned, and now the clergyman publishes the sworn statements of several persons that they saw the phenomenon. They say that it occurred on March 31, 1848. At 5 o'clock in the morning so little water was dripping over that a man and his daughter walked half way across from the Canadian shore, near the edge of the precipice. The girl stuck a pole into a crevice of the rock and left a handkerchief flying from the top. Not content with this feat they went half a mile above the Fall, and rode part way across the bed of the river in a wagon. Others did similar things. The jagged rocks at the bottom below the Falls were exposed. This strange condition lasted until nightfall, when the steam began rapidly to swell, and before morning was as large as usual. Dr. Fuller's theory is as follows: "The winds had been blowing down Lake Erie, which is only about thirty feet deep, and rushing a great deal of the water from it over the Falls; it then suddenly changed, and blew the little water (comparatively speaking) up to the western portion of the Lake; at this juncture the ice on Lake Erie, which had been broken up by these high winds, got jammed in the river between Buffalo and the Canada side, and formed a dam which kept back the waters of Lake Erie."

BEST IS CHEAPEST!

LEWIS' CONDENSED BAKING POWDER

STRICTLY PURE!

We will give $1000.00 for any Alum or other adulteration found in this POWDER.

Indorsed by the Brooklyn Board of Health, and by the best chemists in the United States.

It is STRONGER than any Yeast Powder in the world.

It NEVER FAILS to make light bread when used as directed.

It is COMMENDED by every housekeeper who has given it a fair trial.

It is an entirely NEW INVENTION, without any of the bad qualities of soda or saleratus, yeast or other baking powders.

It has in itself a tendency to sustain and nourish the system.

Good food makes good health; and health is improved or impaired in proportion as the food we eat is nutritious or otherwise.

LEWIS' BAKING POWDER always makes good food.

One can of this is worth two of any other baking compound.

It makes bread whiter and richer.

More than half the complaints of bad flour arise from the use of common baking powders, which often make the best of flour turn out dark bread.

The most delicate persons can eat food prepared with it without injury.

Nearly every other baking powder is adulterated and is absolutely injurious.

This is made from Refined Grape Cream of Tartar, and is PERFECTLY PURE.

It makes the BEST, lightest, and most nutritious

BREAD, BISCUIT, CAKE, CRULLERS, BUCKWHEAT, INDIAN, AND FLANNEL CAKES.

A single trial will prove the superiority of this Powder.

MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

DR. HOWE'S TESTIMONY.

PITTSFIELD, ME., March, 1872.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS,
Dear Sir—During the past two years, I have given your compound syrup of Hypophosphites a fair trial, somewhat severe trial in my practice and am able to speak with confidence of its effects. In restoring persons suffering from emaciation and the debility following Diptheria it has done wonders. I constantly recommend its use in all affections of the throat and lungs. In several cases considered hopeless, it has given relief, and the patients are fast recovering. Among these are consumptive and old bronchial subjects, who's diseases have resisted the other modes of treatment. For impaired digestion, and in fact for debility from any cause, I know of nothing equal to it. Its direct effect in strengthening the nervous system, renders it suitable for the majority of diseases.
I am, sir, yours truly, WM. S. HOWE, M D

Chronic Diseases
—OF THE—
THROAT,
LUNGS,
HEART,
STOMACH, LIVER.

Head, nerves, kidneys, bladder, womb, and blood affections of the urinary organs, gravel, scrofula, heumatism, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, dyspepsia, &c.
Dr. Price's reputation has been acquired by candid, honest dealing and years of successful practice.
My practice not one of experiment, but founded on the laws of Nature, with years of experience and evidence to sustain it, does not tear down, make sick to make well; no harsh treatment, no trifling, no flattering. We know the cause and the remedy needed; no guess work, but knowledge gained by years of experience in the treatment of Chronic diseases exclusively; no encouragement without a prospect. Candid in our opinions, reasonable in our charges, claim not to know everything, or cure everybody, but do lay claim to reason and common sense. We invite the sick, no matter what their ailment, to call and investigate before they abandon hope, make interrogations and decide for yourselves; it will cost nothing as consultation is free. Visits made regularly.

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30, 1880.

SHOPIERE.

There will be a union meeting in the M E church next Sabbath, the fourth day of July, at the hour of morning service, Rev Mr Wilson preaching a national sermon.

EMERALD GROVE.

—Mrs. Day will give a reading in the Congregational church, Emerald Grove, on Tuesday evening, July 6th. This is for the benefit of the church, and a small admission will be charged. Ice cream and other refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

—There was a disgraceful row last Friday evening among a lot of young men, who got to drinking and quarreling, disturbing the whole neighborhood. Steps ought to be taken to prevent those who thus offend the decency and peace of a community.

JOHNSTOWN.

—Mr E H Blish, of this town, has just finished a family monument in the Johnstown cemetery for Mr James McNee, of Bradford. It is of Scotch granite,—a plain square shaft, surmounted by a draped urn The family lot is 12 by 20 feet, curbed with seven-inch Joliet stone, with posts one foot square, on the corners, and is a beautiful piece of workmanship, indeed, and does great credit to Mr Blish as an artist of superior merit.

—The tobacco men are through setting, and are now cultivating; and having had a splendid time so far, many have commenced cutting close, and timothy will soon be ready. Winter wheat and barley will be earlier than for many years, and bids fair for a bountiful harvest.

—A few days more and the click of the sickle will be the music of the prairie.

THE FOURTH IN MILTON.

The people of the town of Milton, after considerable discussion, have concluded to celebrate the Fourth at Clear Lake.

The procession will form at Milton Junction, at 9 o'clock a m, Monday, July 5th and proceed to the lake under the direction of S C Carr, the Marshal of the Day.

At the Lake remarks will be made by Revs. Dunn, Eldredge and Wardner. The names of the men gives us a sufficient guarantee of something worth listening to. Rev T P Sawin, of Janesville, was selected Orator of the Day. Mr Sawin is so well known, that any recommendation is needless.

The Milton Cornet Band will furnish music. This band has twenty members, and under its efficient management has become very popular.

—A grand display of fireworks at Milton Junction will close the exercises of the Fourth.

EDGERTON.

—Amos Babcock has been appointed United States mail carrier on the Edgerton, Albion and Busseyville route.

—John Lusk is painting his large tobacco warehouse.

—Matthew Croft has rented his new hall to the Masons and Odd Fellows, for ten years. This hall is eighty-six feet long, and will be the most convenient and commodious one in this vicinity. The societies have been quite fortunate in thus securing these apartments.

—Pease & Son are painting the addition to their warehouse.

—The M. E Sunday school will have a picnic three weeks from yesterday.

—Nelson Taylor has so far recovered from his serious lameness as to be able to stand alone and take steps, with the use of crutches. We congratulate him most sincerely.

—The tobacco is now nearly all set. The past few days have been a great opportunity.

—Gordner & Bowen's team ran away, Monday morning, with the meat wagon, turning it up-side-down. The top was somewhat damaged, and the wagon slightly wrecked.

—Our people will see Grant, this fall, at Madison.

HARMONY.

—We are having good weather for ducks and tobacco setters, but rather too squaly for haying.

—Winter wheat is looking well, with a few exceptions, which are rusting badly. It will soon be ready for the reaper.

—Mr George Turner arrived home from Montana, last week, and is shaking hands around among his friends, looking hale and hearty. He reports everything booming.

—Mr Charles Palmer while out to Evansville after a load of lumber, lost a valuable horse He feels the loss heavily, as it breaks up his team; and at this time of year when work is so pressing, it is quite difficult to find one without loosing too much valuable time.

—The carpenter work is all done on Mr Rice's tobacco barn and it is ready for the painters. When completed it will not only be the nicest but the best structure of its kind in the town.

—The Harmony Glee Club was out serenading last Friday evening, and gave some very choice music, as Mr Ruben Palmer's people can testify. Call around again.

—Frank Story has the boss piece of corn in town, standing over three feet high.

—Those wishing to see the Prairie in its best dress ought to visit Mount Zion now.

—A great demand has been made for help to set tobacco plants. No one needs lay around idle for want of work. The setting is nearly all done.

MILTON.

—George Church, who has been confined to his bed for some weeks past with an acute attack of inflamatory rheumatism, is able to be out again.

—J W Cutting has just returned from a visit to his sons who reside at Kearney, Nebraska.

—The mowing machine is at work in the park this week.

—Full report of Milton College Commencement exercises will appear in the next issue of the Weekly Gazette. Leave your order for extra copies with Postmaster Green now.

—Veeder, senior of the Recorder firm was in town Monday.

—Prof. L D Harvey has resigned the position of principal of our public schools, which office he has so ably filled the past few years, and will turn his attention to the practice of law. He will be superseded as principal by Mr C W Tufts of Michigan. —Sheboygan Correspondence Milwaukee Sentinel.

—Prof. Edwin Swinney, Principal of the Fountain City public schools, is in town to attend the Commencement of his "Alma Mater." His many friends are glad to meet him again.

—B W Briggs and wife, of Mauston, arrived in town Monday to enjoy the good time incident to Commencement.

—Prof. Rood finished his school labors at Omro last week, and is at home for a rest up.

—Miss E L Smith, who has been attending Wellesley College during the past year, is at home to enjoy her vacation.

—Rev. O U Whittord, of Walworth, was among those who enjoyed Commencement festivities.

—Winter wheat harvest has begun in Lima, and Milton farmers will begin their harvest next week.

—Milton sent a large delegation to Barnum's circus.

—The wool market has not opened yet, but a few sales have been made by wool growers in this locality at 33 to 35 cents for medium washed.

MILTON JUNCTION.

—Mr R H Stockman, dealer in farm machinery, has bought out the grocery stock and rented the store room of L Davis, Esq., on merchant's row. The store being situated just across the street from his agricultural warehouse makes a convenient office and headquarters for his machinery business.

—The graded school had a picnic at Clear Lake, on Friday afternoon, which proved a very pleasant and happy time for the children.

—Prof. Jones, of Clinton, Superintendent of schools for this district, was in town a day or two last week visiting schools Mr. Jones is a gentleman of scholarly parts and pleasing address and is evidently doing good and satisfactory work in the line of his duties.

—The cooperative store was broken open on Wednesday night last by burglars and cutlery and other goods taken to the amount of about $25. Entrance was effected through a back window, the thieves boring and cutting a hole through the heavy board shutters, large enough to admit the hand and then unhooked the shutters and raised the window. Unfortunately there is no clue to the thieves as usual.

—Mrs Charles Palmer with her two children left here for Mitchell, Dakota, on Tuesday night to join her husband, who went thither in May, with a view of making it their future home.

—The late rain has been all that could be desired by tobacco growers, affording them ample opportunity for setting out their crop under the most favorable conditions possible. Probably three-fourths of the acreage in this section is Spanish tobacco. The demand for help the past two weeks has been very brisk, at good wages.

—Mr Henry Williams is entitled to a vote of thanks by the entire community for the generous forethought which has led him to afford the residents of our village such ample facilities for reaching the cemetery across his grounds, without the usual circuitous and muddy route to which they have been subjected heretofore. To afford the public a free route across one's ground is in itself generous, but the build gates, steps, etc., at one's own expense, solely for the convenience of such public, is a characteristic worthy of more than a passing notice. If our neighboring community of Union has any more such men to part with this town would like to give them a cordial welcome.

—It is much to be regretted that the present term of our graded school just closed, finishes the labors of Prof C C Crawl, of Peoria, Illinois, who for the past year has been in charge of our school. It is perhaps no disparagement to the able teachers, that preceded him to say that he been in some respects the most successful teacher the school has ever had. He possesses what so many really excellent teachers lack, a rare faculty for governing a school by a course of discipline, which, while firm and unyielding, yet commands the highest respect of the governed, who are actuated more by the salutary influence of right doing than by a sense of fear. He is rightly entitled to the thanks of all the patrons of the school and it is to be regretted that his services elsewhere commands a salary that in the judgment of the Board renders it impossible to retain him here. He will teach at Harvard the coming year.

—The funeral of Miss May Burdick, only daughter of Mr Lee Burdick, Esq, of Lima, who died on Wednesday, from the effects of injuries received in failing from an apple tree several weeks previous, took place at the new church on Friday last at 2 p m. The funeral was very largely attended, Rev N Wardner officiating.

—Prof J P Haire, of Janesville, will preach for the Congregational society of Milton Junction on Sunday next July 4th.

—Mrs Thomas Rogers, of Brooklyn, New York, is spending a few weeks in these parts visiting friends.

—Mr C F Lane has our thanks for a nice dish of new clover honey. Mr Lane has upwards of one hundred hives of bees which will produce a very large amount of honey during the season. Their facilities for forage is the very best and the quality will be unsurpassed as those will find who will call on him.

—Remember the great Sabbath school picnic at Koshkonong Lake on Wednesday July 7th. It will be pleasant and profitable.

—An infant son of Mr John Hoag died on Saturday night of measles, and was buried on Monday.

—The exhibition of mowers on the farm of Alexander Paul on Monday, came off as arranged. Four reapers were on exhibition, the Light Improved Champion and the old Champion by C J Bliss, and the Walter A Woods and Climax by R H Stockman. The meadow was not sufficiently heavy to put any of the machines to any severe test and the result was that all did splendid work, although the Woods and Light Champion had the favor of the field. The exhibitors proved these two mowers to be models of beauty and ease of execution. Where two machines are so nearly perfect as to render it extremely difficult to decide between them, discrimination is superfluous, while one may possess some points that may recommend it to some, the other will show points that will make it preferable to others, it is safe to say that in the exhibition yesterday they did splendid work with an ease and grace that ought to satisfy anyone. The Climax is also a superb machine and will challenge recognition in any contest on which it may enter.

COLLEGE CULTURE.

The Doings of Commencement Week at Milton.

The Sermons, the Speeches, the Visitors, the Flowers, and Diplomas.

A Class of Ten Ladies and Gentlemen Finish their Course and Say Good-bye.

The Orations.

To-day was the day of all the year, most interesting and most important to the friends of Milton College, it being the annual commencement. The day was most propitious, and all things seemed to work together for good. The exercises of the graduating class took place this forenoon on the campus, the audience being gathered beneath a canopy of green boughs, which furthered the shade of the trees. The platform had a background of the stars and stripes, and upon the trunk of a neighboring oak appeared a festooning of green and in golden letters, "Class of '80," and a delicate grouping of crape to indicate the loss of one of their members—Miss Wetmore. Upon the platform were seated the members of the faculty, trustees and prominent visitors, and the members of the graduating class. Among the faces thus seen were those of Senator T O Howe, of Green Bay; State Superintendent Whitford, Revs. I S Eldridge, Wardner, and Whitford, County Superintendent W R Taylor, of Walworth, Profs. J N Humphrey, of Fond du Lac; A A Miller, of Waukesha; J D Bond, of St. Paul; E Swinney, of Fountain City; H D Kinney, of Mazomania; D Kinner, of Darlington; and C C Crawl, of Milton Junction.

President Robert Whitford presided, and the exercises opened with music by the Milton Cornet Band, who numbered twenty, and who sent forth most excellent music. Rev. Mr. Dunn offered the opening prayer, and after another stirring selection by the band, the class exercises opened with a salutatory in Latin, by George Washington Post, of Milton, which was delivered in a calm, dignified manner, but which like all Latin salutatories, was taken by faith on the part of the audience, as all right in sentiment and grammar.

The other members of the class then followed with the English orations, the lady members speaking instead of reading essays. The following are the abstracts of the several orations:

THE CRUSADES—C. T. CLARKE.

The rise of the Crusades has been attributed to Peter the Hermit, a native of France, who had witnessed the cruelties of the visitors of Jerusalem. In 1095 the first expedition started for the Holy Land. Vast numbers of men, women and children, entered upon the expedition, few of whom ever returned to tell the tale of their victory. Three years after the Crusaders first started, Jerusalem was delivered from the Turks, and it remained in possession of the Europeans for about fifty years. Although the object of the Crusaders was a complete failure, and the loss of human life was enormous, they produced some important results. Rapid was the progress in civilization, arts, manufactures and commerce, during the two hundred years of the Crusades, and this progress has been attributed to the beneficent influence of the Holy Wars.

THE BEST EDUCATION—EDWARD D. DIKE.

Mr. Dike first traced the development of the earth through geological time showing that the plan of creation was one of progression, and then spoke of the infinite variety of the works of nature.

As in nature so, he argued, is it in the development of the mind. Mental growth is ever progressive and presents as many separate phases as there are individuals. Hence the best education must take into account the individual characteristics and must work with them rather than against them. There can be no inflexible system to which all persons can be made to conform, but there must be freedom for individual growth, for the development of each one's personality, and that a man's success and happiness in life lies alone in his seeking that culture and following that calling for which he is best adapted by nature.

THE WORK OF THE ICONOCLAST—C. A COLEMAN.

It is not the famous victories in history in which we most delight, but those contests whose effects may be traced in the mental, social or religious elevation of the people. By the efforts of the ancient Iconoclast's idols were destroyed, and the worship paid to them offered to a living pleity. In Greece and Rome every attack upon the ancestral faith met the sternest opposition. Iconoclasm is not confined to ages of Paganism, but in modern times is visible in every department of human knowledge. We are continually witnessing the dethronement of our idols in the loss of cherished illusions. The work of the Iconoclast is not merely objective. To keep the mind free from false ideas requires as great an effort as that put forth to demolish the idols of the heathen.

EPICTETUS AND PAUL—CLARA M. DUNN.

Epictetus, a Roman philosopher lived in the first century of the christian era. Though a heathen, words of wisdom fell from his lips which have rarely been surpassed. The latest teaching of morals and theology is that the seat of depravity is in the will, that in the will there are involved two elements, choice and volition. Below and above choice an is necessity. To teach the best thinkers of to-day so taught Epictetus. In nobility of sentiment in grandeur and elevation of conception, he is the peer. Plato, comparing his teachings with those of Paul, it appears that Paul far excelled him as an orator, a writer, and in the perminence of his influence upon mankind. The cause of this superiority is traced to the fact that Paul was directly taught of God in a preeminent degree, while Epictetus only enjoyed those faint glimmerings which peered through the darkness which enveloped the heathen mind.

MISS J. F. JOHNSON.

During the past winter, Ireland was in a condition of want and wretchedness. Catholocism, indolence, and oppression have conspired to drag her down to her present state of degradation. The people are naturally indolent and this feeling is encouraged by the priesthood, under whose rule the people are, but little better than slaves. The shackle of the Romish church must be broke, before Ireland can be brought out of bondage. England must change her land laws, she must give to the Irish peasant an incentive to labor. The English landlord must give to his tenants a proper remuneration for labor. If this can be done there remains the hope, that Ireland may sometime become prosperous and happy.

BEYOND THE ALPS LIES ITALY.—LILLIE JOHNSON.

History has no brighter scene of persevering endeavor rewarded by grand results than Hannibal crossing the Alps to conquer the Romans. We are all endowed with abilities which fit us for a useful place among life's workers. In all history we see that the Italy which is walled in by the loftiest Alps, proves the grandest when reached.

However successful may be our achievements in this life we have an Italy to reach beyond these mountains of worldly strife and toil.

QUEEN ELIZABETH—W. M. M'LAY.

In Queen Elizabeth we find an individuality so intense and a disposition so multiplex that we cannot fail to be interested. The desire of power is the central point in her character. Her frugality had much to do with England's prosperity. In important matters of any kind the queen's prudence seemed to incline her to take a middle course when it was possible. Her excessive vanity and her petty jealousies have been a prolific subject of comment ever since the time she lived. She dissembled with a remarkable grace and daring. By far the deepest stain that remains upon her memory is her treatment of her kinswoman and rival, Mary,—Queen of Scots. Notwithstanding her faults, her intellect, vigor, heroism and wisdom mark her as one of the brightest ornaments the crown of England has ever had.

THE POSITION OF MAN IN NATURE—GEO. W. POST.

What is man? The opinions of the worlds great men though seemingly different at first sight, yet may be harmonized. Man's greatest successes have been but mere beginnings, but he is endowed with a principle of development in which lies his chief hope. It is necessary for men in all ages of the world to go over the knowledge gained by those before, and from this as a base, to reach out farther. Again, the spirit in which this is done is of the utmost importance. Of these one leads to a propped up show of ease, to a peevish disposition; to indecision and error. Another to real peace and contentment to the true, grand, satisfying principle in life; to all good, which is more sensible, more reasonable, better?

HISTORY FURNISHES THE STRONGEST PROOF OF PRINCIPLES.

By studying and comparing the history of the Orient and the Occident, one principle is singled out as the principal cause of the stagnation in one and the advancement in the other. They are viewed as exemplified by the effects of ideas of two characters—the Budha, Gautania and Jesus. Something of Gautama's life and teachings: They beget peace and do not excite conflict and activity, while there is conflict in the interpretations of the unwritten doctrines of Jesus. Those bitter wars have kept Christian nations awake and active. Disregarding any difference in natural endowments, it is seen by placing the two in opposition, that one takes the stimulating effects of conflict. This principle runs through all nature and causes the fittest to survive. If this principle is established, and if the Orients were ever naturally equal to us, why not awake them from their sweet sleep?

THE EDUCATIONAL VALUE OF SCIENCE—F. I. MACK.

The power of man to acquire knowledge is the condition for his greatest happiness. The exercise of this power is not only necessary for his well-being, but as an act of worship—a fulfillment of the law of God stamped upon his higher nature. As regards its relating knowledge is differentiated into two classes—that which is of value to the individual, and that which is of value both to the individual and to society. The first class is cultural; the second class is useful. Cultural knowledge makes a man; useful knowledge makes an agent of civilization. Let us see what useful knowledge has done for the world: The telegraph has annihilated distance, machinery, by doing the work of millions, has aided in the overthrow of human slavery. Sanatory science has changed our large cities from cities of pestilence into abodes of health. Discipline is not the sole end and aim of education. Culture alone will liberalize the mind, but culture combined with useful knowledge is the grand desideratum. The sciences furnish this combination. Science deserves a high place in our schools, because of the religious culture it affords. The student of nature sees that the laws to which we submit are constantly working for good. Science, alone, can give us true conceptions of ourselves. It shows us what can be known, and leads us upon every side to barriers beyond which human ken can never pierce. While before the assumptions of men its attitude is haughty, it bows the head before that mighty Intelligence which nature life and thought are manifestations.

The usual diplomas were then given, in the several courses of study as follows:

TEACHER'S COURSE—Clara Taylor Clarke, of Milton; Edward Dougherty Dike, of Princeton.

SCIENTIFIC COURSE—Fred William Bentley, of Edgerton; Cora Adella Coleman, of Albia, Iowa; Clara Marsh Dunn, of Milton; Julia Florence Johnson, of Darien; Lillie Johnson, of Darien; Mary Miller McLay, of Rock Prairie.

CLASSICAL COURSE—George Washington Post, of Milton; Frank Irving Mack, of Johnstown.

The diplomas were presented by President Whitford, and the annual address to the graduating class was made by Rev. E. M. Dunn.

Adjournment was then taken for dinner, and this afternoon the alumni meeting was held.

The exercises of commencement week began Friday evening, June 25th, with a sermon before the Christian Association by Rev. T. P. Sawin, of Janesville. Mr. Sawin spoke from Ezek. 1:12, "And they went every one straight forward, whither the spirit was to go, they went." In graphic language the speaker painted the vision of Ezekiel recorded in the first chapter of his prophecy. The four persons in that vision of the glory of God represented the acts and thoughts of God. Especial stress was laid upon the words, "They went straightforward." God's plan is one from its very first beginning. He looks neither to the right nor to the left but straightforward. The history of nations is just as God would have it and is part of the unchanging plan. While the plan is fixed the individual is free. The drama cannot change but the actors can change parts as they please. God's purposes and man's are two wheels with one center but revolving at right angles. Man's little wheel may revolve as it may, God's is not affected by it. As the figures in the vision went whither the spirit was to go, so we all have a spirit within us which will lead us aright if we follow it.

The sermon was full of hope, the descriptions were vivid and luminous, the rhetoric and elocution excellent and the enthusiasm such that it carried the audience fully with the speaker.

ON SUNDAY EVENING

the Baccalaureate sermon was preached by Superintendent W C Whitford from Prov. 3:13 "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom and the the man that getteth understanding. The theme was "The influence of our schools upon the pupils character." In his introduction the speaker referred to the schools of the Puritans, the Jesuits and others to show the influence of schools and the estimation in which they have been held as moulders of character. He then discussed their influence under five heads; 1st in habituating the young scholar to an unvarying diligence; 2d, in cultivating an ardent desire for knowledge; 3d, in giving maturity of mind; 4th, in developing a fervent love of truth; and, 5th, in producing a profound reverence for, and practice of, rectitude. These five points were ably amplified and illustrated, and the sermon closed with an an address to the members of the class.

ON MONDAY MORNING

the three Lyceums convened in joint public session, Mary McLay, '80, presiding. Prayer was offered by Rev. O. U. Whitford, of Walworth, after which music was presented by Misses Haven and Clarke, and Messrs. Ferris and Anderson, Miss Matie Goodrich presiding at the piano. The following programme was then presented:

ORATION—TRUE WORKMANSHIP, C. E. HULL.

Mr. Hull sketched Washington's life as an example of true workmanship; illustrated the importance of good work by the case of a disabled ship from a defective rudder, and applied true workmanship to the building of characters. The speaker was self-possessed, but was somewhat unsuccessful in his intonations.

ORATION—"THE RULING POWER OF ACTION"—LIDE S. HUMPHRIES.

Purity is an essential condition for a true ruling power and home influence is the cause of purity or in purity. Various ruling powers were noted as, for instance, the desire of winning a name, but the test of the worth of the power is the motive. We are not to judge others because the motive, a large factor in the cause of actions, is beyond our knowledge; God alone can read the heart. Only when our motives are right can we fear the judgments neither of God nor man. The gestures of the speaker were a little stiff and her manner too quiet, though the general effect was good.

ORATION—DANIEL WEBSTER—J C. BARTHOLF.

Mr. Bartholf discussed Webster as a literary man, as a lawyer, and as a statesman. In literature he was given a high position; as a lawyer he was compared with the most eminent men of his time and the extravagant statement made that the sum of all their powers scarcely equaled that of Webster as a lawyer; as a statesman no one save Hamilton could at all compare with him. The part of Webster in the compromise measures of '50 were excused through Webster's devotion to the Union, which without the compromise could not be preserved. The oration closed with nature pointing to Webster as the perfection of her handiwork. The speaker was animated and energetic in his delivery, and very successful, save in an explosive force or individual words, which marred the otherwise good effect of his delivery.

RECITATION—MONA'S WATERS—K. H. BARLASS.

The recitation was finely diversified and was greeted with hearty applause and a shower of bouquets.

PAPER—THE OWL—C. A. SMART, B. H. WELCH, ANNA WHITFORD.

The paper was read very fairly by Mr. Welch, and on the whole was well edited, containing spicy items in abundance, many of them well conceived and happily expressed. It was somewhat marred, though much less than is usual with such papers, by too personal items, and in reading by a number of serious defects in pronunciation.

ESSAY—MODERN CONDITIONS OF ART—MRS. EVA D. MACK.

The essayist claimed that the limit in the progress of art has been reached, and that we are now compelled to turn back to the past for our models. We have, in a measure lost our love of the beautiful, our dress destroys beauty of form and grace of motion, our scientific studies and materialistic tendencies have destroyed our imagination, our inspiration in poetry and in art. Still a noble theme well treated can move us ever in this age.

ORATION—SELF DESTRUCTION—M J WHITFORD.

The orator told us that probably forty persons (the world over) daily committed suicide, and gave the views of ancient and of English legislators in regard to the practice. In some cases suicide is justifiable and ever commendable. When a person can thereby escape a more disagreeable death it is justifiable. When committed to avoid a crime against others, suicide is commendable. But when committed in the devotion to duty, as in case of the spy, the engineer who gives his life to save those of his passengers, up to Christ's matchless self immolation, it is in the highest degree praiseworthy. "Greater love hath no man than this that a man lay down his life for his friends." In manner and delivery the speaker was quite successful, though a hesitation from forgetfulness at one point, marred the effect of the oration.

The music interspersed through the exercises was very good and the duet "What are the Wild Waves Saying" by Mrs Haven and Mr Ferris, and the Inastette "Come Where the Lilies Blow." Post, Ferris, Brown and Anderson are especially noteworthy.

In general we may say that if a Milton audience could realize that 8 o'clock came earlier that 8:30 to 8:45 and if boquet throwers would remember that a shower of flowers on the stage and a shower scattered through an audience and under their feet have far different effects, it would be a decided improvement.

BRIEFLETS.

—The improvements in the Court House Park are progressing rapidly.

—St. Patrick's church will give a picnic at Wheeler's Grove on Monday, July 5, to which the public is invited.

—It is reported that in taking the census of the Fourth Ward, a number of omissions were made. Let a full and correct count be made.

—A fair audience greeted Dr. Humphrey last evening to see his beautiful cabinet, and hear his strong vigorous common sense and fine speaking. This this evening his subject will be, "The digestive organs, bloodmaking etc." All our citizens are cordially invited free, as a compliment from the Institute at Winona.

—There will be a grand picnic at Boub's Grove on Monday July 5th. The steamers will make regular trips every hour beginning at ten o'clock in the forenoon. The Bower City Band will furnish the music for the entire day. Among the amusement will be games and dancing. There will be a general good time in store for all who attend.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME.

All the old residents know Leslie Treat, son of Dr. E. B. Treat, formerly a resident of this city, but now of Chicago. After looking about considerably this spring, seeking a location for business, Leslie has determined that the old home is about as good as any other place in the wide world, and he has therefore decided to again make this city his home. He can be found at No. 83 West Milwaukee street, having purchased Evan Thomas' stock of boots and shoes, where he will be pleased to see all his friends. Leslie is well known here, and we can safely say that he will be found perfectly reliable, accommodating and attentive to the wants of his patrons. Having a knowledge of Mr. Treat's business ability and experience, we can safely bespeak for him a successful career.

Universally acknowledged the best, Astor House, New York.

A BIG SHOW.

The Tents Crowded, The People Delighted, and Everybody Made Happy.

Barnum's big tents were crowded both afternoon and evening yesterday, and the make up of the audience was most excellent. Many were there who are seldom seen under canvas, and one of the pleasing features of the whole show, was the kind of people Barnum succeeds in drawing. It is due to the fact that everything low is barred out, and the entertainment given being of such a nature as to be enjoyed by all, the reputation of "the moral show" is so established that none hesitate about crowding into the tents.

It's a big show. Almost too big. There's more than one pair of eyes can take in in the course of a half day, and after looking, and looking, one has to go away after all without seeing only a fragment of the wonders. The menagerie is certainly the largest and best that ever was presented for public inspection here, and that is saying much. The mechanical wonders alone form a complete show.

The ring performance is in keeping with the mammoth and extraordinary enterprise. The grand entree is a bewilderment of men, horses, gay uniforms, fair ladies, bright banners, animals, curiosities, and proves a fitting opening to a programme, varied and thrilling. Col. Goshen, the eight-foot giant, and little Nellie Keeler, the twelve-pound lady, form a queer couple as they clasp hands and walk around the ring, the tatooted Greek is another wonder; the wild Zulus with their war dance and target practice with the assegais—these curiosities are all brought into the ring, and then retire to the museum, where they can be seen at leisure.

There is the finest display of horsemanship ever seen in any ring. Mme. Dockrill, who is without a rival, called forth storms of applause, especially in her six horse act. Sig. Sebastian and his son did some sensational bareback riding, and there were others who seemed equally good in varying acts showing skill and nerve. Then there was "Salamander" the fire horse who leaped through the burning hoops as though he enjoyed it. Then there were trained doves, and the only yoke of trained oxen ever shown up. They could do everything but read. Prof. Neyggard and his six train stallions called forth wild applause. The Nelsons in their in their acrobatic feats were wonderful. The leaping horse and the leaping stag seemed to be able to jump over any height—and so the show went on until wonders seemed to have no end, but a fitting climax came in the appearance of Zazel, who did some very clever wire walking, and then made a headlong dive from the top of the tent into a net, and after that was fired from a cannon into the air, and caught in the same net. It was a thrilling act, which called forth great enthusiasm on its successful execution.

In fact it was "a big show," and everybody went away more than satisfied. Last night the show moved to Madison, where it appears to day.

Pretty and Young.

in every feature but the hair, which had grown white from fever. This lady at 35 writes us: "I have used Parker's Hair Balsam six months and am more than pleased with it. It has restored the natural brown color of my hair and given it a silky softness, nicer than ever before. There is no Dandruff, no falling hair, and it leaves the scalp so clean and nice and cool that I am ever so much pleased, and I feel and look like myself again." The beautiful, fresh and vigorous hair it produces, together with its property of restoring gray or faded hair to the natural youthful color, and entirely freeing the head from dandruff and itching, surprises no less than it pleases. Sold in large bottles at only 50 cents and $1 00 by all first class druggists.
